INTRODUCTION

This is our third issue of Zim Internet Review. It is awesome watching it grow and knowing we are helping increase exposure to some of what Zimbabwe has to offer.

In this issue we are looking into alternative energy. Regular supply of basic utilities such as electricity and water are a constant challenge in Zimbabwe from economic issues and bad management. The result of this is that the responsibility of acquiring basic necessities falls on us as individuals.

There are companies in Zimbabwe working at providing the equipment, supplies and services required, in this issue we have listed all the companies we could find relating to alternative power solutions in Zimbabwe.

Community input is greatly appreciated, if there is anything that you think would be beneficial to highlight, please let us know.

Learning Online

Learning is not something that ends after school, often that is when you start to realize how much more you need to learn.

These are a few online sites that offer courses that can help anyone learn more.

Most of those sites have offer free courses and some of them offer paid for courses. The paid for courses will usually give you a certificate while the free courses usually don't.

There are many other sites that offer courses and of course TedTalks and YouTube are also great for learning.

Anyone who stops learning is old — whether this happens at twenty or at eighty. Anyone who keeps on learning not only remains young but becomes constantly more valuable — regardless of physical capacity.
